Nowadays English is becoming more, more popular and commonly spoken in every country. All around the world not only adults but also a great number of children have a desire to learn English and be able to speak in English fluently. It is obvious that it is more challenging to teach children any language than the elderly. However, it is believed that young children have a tendency to pick up any language quickly because of their self-motivation and natural ability to acquire language easily. Adults or adolescents encounters various difficulties while learning English such as the pronunciation of words that are difficult to produce and the acquisition of new vocabularies owing to lack of energy to learn by heart them whilst children can perfectly imitate the pronunciation of new words and easily memorise vocabularies which are unfamiliar to them.

In terms of teaching English language to children , it is true that young children are likely to be inquisitive and want to learn something with fun. Therefore, teaching children requires to be active , creative and organize activities which interests them. If the young children are engaged in what they are doing there is a great possibility to learn. Young learners need variety of short activities to keep them interested. Try alternating lively ‘stirring’ activities with calm ‘settling’ ones to harness the learners’ energy while avoiding over-excitement and providing variety. Using various interesting and funny activities in order to educate young children give effective results and outcomes. Teaching English to children with tough , boring and with some grammatical theories make difficult and dull to children. In this case, it is impossible to acquire anything for children. For instance, learning alphabet with song is more effective and funnier rather than just learning them by heart. Futhermore , cartoons are children’s the most favorite programme. Children can learn some vocabularies or some phrases with the help of interesting English cartoons. Although they might not understand the sentences which are used in them but they try to understand the meaning of it with the actions or getures, emotional states used by characters. It is considered to be one of the effective ways of the acquisition of language learning process. Other ways of learning English productively would be making role plays in English language or asking riddles from the children. They get interested in finding the answer of the riddle and they will search it. As we all we know, tongue twisters helps us to speak English fluently. Children have ability lo learn things more quickly than the elderly and adolescents. So that reason children can learn tongue twisters in order to help them speak fluently.

When it comes to acquire new words, arts and crafts and mini-projects are considered to be one of the wonderful ways of teaching new vocabularies, seasonal activities and holidays. It is crystal clear that children have short attention spans.

That is why, make the viewing short , however to the point, making it thus more interesting. According to video, it is possible to make children count fruits, birds, and wild animals . Another thing which can be carry out is that ask from young studens to raise their hands as soon as they see a snake, leopard, bear or any other animals in the video.

Moreover, a focus strategy on the essential skills should be implemented. These skills include being able to use effective techniques to lead lesson efficiently, have a knowledge of utilizing innovative technologies. We need to apply creative an innovative strategies with a particular focus on the basic young learners' education. While education systems are varying in their capability to implement creative teaching methods and curricula , a teacher can easily adapt their teaching techniques towards more creative thinking. Utilizing modern and innovative technologies makes lessons easy to understand and more productive.
