

A Tribute to the “Man of Achievement”

Swapna Kashinath Jadhav

Asst. Professor-Department of English Shree Sharana Nuliya Chandayya Dr B R Ambedkar
First Grade Arts and Commerce College. Gangadhar Nagar. Hubli. State-Karnataka, Country-India.

Email.Id: sd.saunshi@gmail.com

*“People know you very little today
But time keeps you fresh everyway
Let many understand you,
And why not portray to the world
The journey of a man and many as such,
The real beauty of a coloured raindrop
In a sky of white cloud”.*

This speaks of a great person well known to the few, but should be introduced to many in numbers and the one who gives me the strength to put him in words of my own.

It's a new face yet a pure soul of Shri.Krishnappa.G.Gokak who stood as a personality of devotion and dedication towards his tribal society.

A common man not like people of whom and whose we read in books or ears hear of, but nowhere less to them as people know him but many failed to write about.

He is a person who is known for his expressive sympathy towards the nomadic/semi-nomadic communities like Kaikadi's, Kanjarbhat's, Ghantichoras, Bestars, Harini-Shikari's....etc as he strived for the welfare of these above tribal people. He has been great by reason of the way in which he has ordered his life. The remarkable quality in him was his courage; the courage of his soul which helped him defend his opinions in the face of overwhelming odds.

He from his student life experienced many odds and difficulties in education journey. So he made himself strong and highly qualified but did not join any service/job which provided him luxury. He preferred to sacrifice his life for amelioration and upliftment of the tribal people amongst whom he was also born and brought up and was very familiar with the problems of the past and the present. He is been judged by his courage, conduct and his calculations as said by his believer's.

With a dream of shaping the future of children of such generations he started educational institutions from the level of primary schooling to degree .He with a revolutionary thought chose to continue his crusade against the socio-economic and cultural injustice being done to the economically deprived and hence deprived communities who would have become culprits of this society, if we're not pulled out from extremes. And now these people stand true today in the main stream of society. He has been always educating people to fight for their rights and also to serve the nation. Besides providing education to such streams, he has also provided accommodations to the less-fortunate children of the soil. He has been responsible for facilitating many social and religious enhancements by constructing houses, temples community halls.....etc.

His secret to overcome failings was his method of self-examination and self-condemnation which usually is noted as introspection and very few can do it sincerely. The fullest belief in striving hard till one gets success was the only mantra he remembered. . Due to the strenuous efforts and achievements of his, many people and their generations keep him fresh in memories. These efforts of his have also been the reasons for honoring him by many awards like The Best Citizen Of India award , The Man Of Achievement award, Recognition from the Asia Pacific's WHO'S WHO and many more ;from many national and international associations and Organizations.

But somewhere I feel that people and their great contributions should be acknowledged worldwide as the belief that revolutionary thoughts transform society into good or bad, but if the ideology to strive for only the welfare of a society would surely show the rising bright sun to the darkest regions.

Conclusion: I feel privileged to speak about such a personality whose unfamiliar life motivates many and is expected to continue to upcoming generations. His theory of providing equality through educating society shows the humble way he walked on.

We all need to learn lot of lessons from such personalities to build a beautiful nation.

Abstract: My paper is an attempt to pay a tribute to such great people who remains unknown even after sacrifices for their own societies and also to introduce such a person, who is known for his expressive sympathy towards the nomadic/semi-nomadic(tribal people) communities as he strives hard for their welfare. I believe that people and their great contributions should be acknowledged worldwide as revolutionary thoughts of great people hidden around us have transformed society into good, their ideology to strive for only the welfare of a society would be a reason for survival of the good till today. The common man introduced here is great by reason of the way in which he has ordered his life. The fullest belief in striving hard till one gets success was the only mantra he followed. His secret to overcome failings was his method of self-examination and self-condemnation. Due to the strenuous efforts and achievements of his, many people and their generations keep him fresh in memories but his life should be a motivation to all is an objective of this paper.

KEY WORDS:

1. Self –Examination---To check and judge whether the action and thoughts are correct or wrong.
2. Amelioration----To bring improvement/to make something better.
3. Strenuous----hard work done/efforts made
4. Revolutionary----difference bringing actions or thoughts.
5. Courage---strength, dare to face without fear.