Abstract: Raising a person of high moral character has always been one of the most important issues. After all, personal development is one of the main criteria for the future of the country. Today, globalization, the penetration of popular culture, requires from us educators hard work, constant vigilance.

Key words: youth education, globalization and the information age, education issues, information threats, the internet.

From the day of independence in our country, the attitude to national values, which express the culture, spirituality, way of life of the nation and people, has acquired a completely new meaning. Today, the problem of spiritual education of students and its solution has risen to the level of public policy. In this regard, a lot of work and activities are being carried out in the Republic, that is, many program, public and educational activities are being carried out, which will allow to achieve promising results in inculcating our national ideology in the minds of students. In particular, the Decree of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan dated January 22, 2018 PF-5308 on the implementation of the action strategy on the five priority areas of development of the Republic of Uzbekistan for 2017-2021. In addition, the country has developed annual state programs and practical work on them, and the essence of such documents and the main purpose of these foundations is a strong focus on educating a harmoniously developed generation with spiritual and intellectual potential.

The main goals of these documents are to protect our children from harmful influences on our national nature, to bring them up as independent-minded, faithful and well-rounded people who live with a sense of belonging to the life and events around them. Therefore, we need to educate the younger generation in the spirit of a strong belief in life, in the spirit of respect for national and universal values, which can withstand the harmful influences and currents of our mentality, and the formation of a healthy lifestyle among young people. the implementation of preventive measures to combat smoking and other harmful habits, how much attention should be paid to the meaningful organization of leisure time.

In today's globalized and information age, the importance of education is growing. The life of a human society is unimaginable without education. Mankind has come to the conclusion that education has always been important.

Because, regardless of the socio-economic and technological development of the society, each historical period raises new and complex issues of human spiritual and educational development, the education of young people. In the words of the Uzbek enlightened scholar Abdullah Avloni, "Education is for us a matter of life or death, salvation or destruction, happiness or disaster," the importance of education in society is obvious. We can see.

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Sh. In his speech at the conference "Ensuring social stability, maintaining the purity of our sacred religion - the need of the hour" held on June 15, 2017 in Tashkent, Mirziyoyev spoke about the education of the younger generation and expressed the following views: Another important issue that always worries us is the behavior of our young people, in a word, their worldview. Today the times are changing rapidly. Young people are the ones who feel these changes the most. Let the youth meet the requirements of their time. But at the same time do not forget about yourself. May the call of who we are and what kind of great people we are, always resonate in their hearts and motivate them to remain true to themselves. How do we achieve this? Upbringing, upbringing and only at the expense of upbringing.

Our ancestors, who are among the authors of universal values in the world, have left a rich legacy of education and concepts that serve as the basis of human perfection. We will have to master the heritage and use this heritage to form a modern worldview that is relevant today. The issue of education has become even more important in the era of globalization, which shows how important and necessary education is in this period.

The work of the First President of the Republic of Uzbekistan I. Karimov "High spirituality is an invincible force" pays special attention to the education of young people, paying special attention to the three sacred places responsible for the education of the younger generation. the first of them is the family, the second is the neighborhood, and the third is the education system. If the spiritual environment in these three places is ideal, everything will be ideal, and if they go into decline, the whole society will collapse.

High Spirituality - Invincible Power focuses on the spiritual environment of the family. The book emphasizes that the family is the most important in the upbringing of young people. Some parents do not pay much attention to the interests and aspirations of their young children, what they are doing, and some parents do not know how to behave in front of the child, and set an example for their children in the field of morality. Instead of being a family, rudeness to the family can negatively affect the spirit of their children, and in some families even the happiness of others, which can have serious consequences in the spiritual world of the child. It is regrettably noted that there is an atmosphere of corruption and provocation, and it is concluded that if we want to see the happiness, fortune and perfection of our children, the behavior of not only the family, but also the people in the neighborhood We must always think about how it affects the emerging pure heart and mind, and we must not forget what a huge responsibility we have in this matter.

One of the most generous places that unites people with society and educates them in this spirit is the mahalla. It is no coincidence that our people have a wise saying: "Seven neighborhoods for one child, both father and mother." Such wise words of our nation testify to the unique role of the mahalla in the education of young people. Education and upbringing are inseparable, they must be carried out in harmony.

The main purpose and task of education is to bring up a perfect person. So, what should we rely on in the spiritual education of young people, who should we set an example for young people, what criteria should we use as a basis. These are the great spiritual heritage created by our great ancestors, their exemplary lives, our sacred religion, the great and eternal truths expressed in our values, high feelings and so on.

Reforms to radically improve the content of the Action Strategy, the National Training Program, the Law on Education and other educational processes in the five priority areas of further development of the Republic of Uzbekistan for 2017-2021 due to the new focus on this area. It is gratifying to note that the results of these efforts are becoming more and more visible, but the incomparable wealth left to us by our ancestors in this area preserves in its treasury so many opportunities that they can be fully utilized. , can contribute not only to the education of the nation, but also to the development of world pedagogical science.

The revolution of the great scientist Jan Amos Comenius and his followers in the world education system by the first half of the twentieth century was widely introduced not only in Europe but in almost all countries of the world and marked a turning point in human development. This system was mainly based on the principle of education and was able to contribute to the high development of world science.

But today, science has developed in such a way that in the upbringing of the younger generation, problems that were unimaginable to the European enlighteners of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries have become of paramount importance. Thus, at the beginning of the XXI century, the need for a radical overhaul of the education system was on the agenda.

Today, the issue of national education is becoming increasingly important. We must now develop a system of independent education in accordance with the traditions of our national and spiritual heritage, without losing sight of the achievements of European science in this area.

In general, the main condition for radically improving the education of young people is to educate educators to be responsible in their profession. In this situation, to form in the minds of young people devotion to the Motherland, high respect for the invaluable spiritual heritage of our ancestors, to mobilize all their efforts for the development of our country, to fully mobilize in the process of building a democratic state and civil society. attention should be paid.

The introduction of new, consistent and effective teaching methods in the education system can be a measure of high efficiency. It should be aimed at the formation of highly educated, highly moral, educationally perfect pedagogical staff with modern knowledge. The next task is to ensure the active participation of not only educational institutions, but also parents, communities and the general public in the education of young people.
